Definitions (Pursuant to L.M.C. 8.04.010):

“Alarm owner” means the person who is actually responsible for the operation and maintenance of the premises in which the alarm system is installed or located.

“Alarm system” means any device, whether known as a burglar alarm, robbery alarm or intrusion alarm, direct dial telephone device, audible or silent alarm, or by any other name, which is used for the detection of an unauthorized entry into a building, structure or facility, or to signal the commission of an unlawful act. It includes those devices which emit a signal within the protected premises only, are supervised by the proprietor of the premises where located and are otherwise known as “proprietary alarm systems.” Auxiliary devices installed by a telephone company to protect telephone company systems which might be damaged or disrupted by the use of an alarm system are not included in this definition.

“Audible alarm” means a device designed to notify persons in the immediate vicinity of the protective premises by emission of an audible sound of an unauthorized entry on the premises or the commission of an unlawful act.

“Direct dial device” means a device which is connected to a telephone line and upon activation automatically dials a predetermined telephone number and transmits a message or signal indicating a need for response.

“False alarm” means an alarm signal activated by causes other than the commission or attempted commission of an unlawful act which the alarm system is designed to detect. An alarm signal activated by violent conditions of nature or other extraordinary circumstances not subject to the control of the alarm owners shall not constitute a false alarm.

“Siren” means any audible noise similar to that which must be sounded by an authorized emergency vehicle.
